Allergy Skin Testing and Treatment Informed Consent

Skin testing is the most accurate technique used to determine if one has sensitivities to certain allergens. The results of your tests should have a large impact in managing your overall symptoms. If chosen, allergy shots could provide a cure for your sensitivities. All skin testing and treatment will be performed with the oversight of a board certified physician. However, one should be aware that there are some risks to the procedures:

1. Temporary discoloration, rash, or swelling at the site. (upper arms)
2. Swelling of the tissues of the upper airway.
3. Bronchoconstriction (wheezing)
4. Hypotension (low blood pressure)

Please understand that the last three side effects are very uncommon, and our staff is trained to manage any of the above conditions.

By signing below I authorize Anil K. Gupta, M.D., PLC, to perform allergy skin testing and treatment.
